VILLAGES IN THE DARK.

Japanese Settlements Amid Dense Groves of Evergreens.

Without having actually been them you cannot imagine how dark some Japanese country villages remain, even in the brightest and hottest weather. In the neighborhood of Tokyo itself there are many villages of this kind. At a short distance from such a settlement you see no houses; nothing is visible but a dense grove of evergreen trees.

The grove, which is usually composed of young cedars and bamboos, serves to shelter the village from storms and also to supply timber for various purposes. So closely are the trees planted that there is no room to pass between the trunks of them; they stand straight as masts and mingle their crests so as to form a roof that excludes the sun. Each thatched cottage occupies a clear space in the plantation, the trees forming a fence about it double the height of the building. Under the trees it is always twilight, even at high noon, and the houses, morning and evening, are half in shadow. What makes the first impression of such a village almost disquieting is not the transparent gloom, which has a certain weird charm of its own, but the stillness.

There may be fifty or a hundred dwellings, but you see nobody and hear no sound but the twitter of invisible birds, the occasional crowing of cocks and the shrilling cicadae. Even the cicadae find these groves too dim and sing faintly. Being sun lovers, they prefer the trees outside the village. I forgot to say that you may sometimes hear a viewless shuttle—chaka-ton, chaka-ton—but that familiar sound in the great green silence seems an elfish happening. The reason of the hush is simply that the people are not at home. All the adults have gone to the neighboring fields, the women carrying their babies on their backs, and most of the children have gone to the nearest school, perhaps not less than a mile away.—Atlantic.

Distress Signals at Sea.

When ships at sea are in want of provisions and starving the signal used is a pendant with a ball underneath. Should the signal be reversed—i. e., ball uppermost—it would signify that the vessel addressed was running into danger. If a ball should be hoisted superior to a large square flag it would denote that the cargo is on fire or ship leaking and requires immediate assistance. All "distant signals" are answered by hoisting a ball at ship's masthead or masthead of signal staff on shore and are used at all times when the colors of a ship's flag cannot be distinguished. The above are international signals.

Seaweeds.

Aside from their use as food by man and beast and as fertilizer in agriculture, seaweeds have numerous uses in the arts and sciences. From them are obtained soda, chlorides, sulphates, silicates, iodine, bromine and gelose. They have ever occupied an important place in the rude pharmacopoeia of the untutored savage as well as of the higher one of his more civilized brethren. Certain varieties are used in stuffing chairs and beds. They are especially suitable for the latter purpose, as their aromatic smell is said to drive insects away.

FIFTY CENTS

IN some conditions the gain from the use of Scott's Emulsion is very rapid. For this reason we put up a fifty-cent size, which is enough for an ordinary cough or cold or useful as a trial for babies and children. In other conditions the gain is slower—health cannot be built up in a day. In such cases Scott's Emulsion must be taken as nourishment; a food rather than a medicine. It's a food for tired and weak digestions.

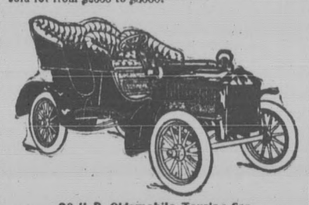
The Greatest American Two-Cylinder Touring Car Ever Sold FOR $1550.00

This car is superior, in design and speed, to many of the best two-cylinder cars built in 1904—cars which sold for from $2600 to $3000.



20-H. P. Oldsmobile Touring Car

This is the latest Oldsmobile creation—a 20-H. P. two-cylinder touring car with side entrance. Double opposed motor 5½ x 6, 90-inch wheel base, noise of exhaust completely eliminated. It combines comfort with speed, hill-climbing ability and plenty of surplus power.

It is roomy and comfortable. Its distributed weight and long spring action permit 5 to 10 miles per hour increased speed over rough country roads with comfort and this case of spring saves tire expense and general wear and tear.

It is very easily controlled and is quick in action. It runs on high speed up to 40 miles an hour. This machine is very popular in San Francisco as it has the power to take heavy grades on high speed. This space is too limited to give full description; the whole story is told, however, when we say "There is no other $1550.00 machine of its class to equal it." Let us prove this to you.

Don't forget that our French Type Runabout at $800.00 (F. O. B. San Francisco) has no equal. Our Olds Curve Dash ($700.00) is a standard "Office on Wheels"; Our Tonneau ($.050.00) is a good slow speed family car. Altogether we have twelve types of machines. OLDSMOBILES run the year through and run for years. The wear and tear expense is $1.00 to $5.00 for other makes.

Our WINTON Four-Cylinder Touring Cars have all cars of their class "driven to the tall timber"—4 Models, 16 to 50 H. P. $1950 to $4650

HISTORY MAKING NAVAL BATTLES.

It is exactly one hundred years, lacking a few months, since Lord Nelson utterly destroyed the combined French and Spanish fleets off Cape Trafalgar. That renowned feat of arms furnishes the nearest parallel to the victory of Togo in the Straits of Korea. France was then the great continental power of Europe, and the mighty fleet of Villeneuve had been collected to drive the British fleet to cover or draw it away from the Channel that Napoleon might land his armies in England. A decisive defeat of Lord Nelson would have been a terrible disaster to Great Britain, for it would have destroyed British supremacy on the sea and left the English coasts open to invasion.

England was an island power pitted against a military colossus.

The situation of Japan prior to the recent naval battle was very much the same as Edgland's prior to the battle of Trafalgar, save that she had no reserve fleet as Great Britain had, and her coasts were not immediately threatened by any army of invasion. Still, in all essentials the parallel is as complete as is usually to be found in historical annals. Had Togo suffered a crushing defeat the disaster to Japan would have been even more irreparable than the complete overthrow of Nelson at Trafalgar. In both instances, however the island power

The battle in the Korean Straits is, therefore, to be ranked among half a dozen epoch-making naval engagements in the world's history. The first was Salamis which saved Greece and Europe from Asiatic domination. The second was when the Roman galleys defeated the Carthagenian fleet. History was not made by any battle on water till Don John of Austria overthrew the sea power of the Turks at Lepanto and the navy of England under Lord Howard of Effingham, Sir Francis Drake, John Hawkins and Martin Frobisher battered and routed the Armada of Spain in the famous Channel fight. The defeat of Van Tromp by Blake decided the supremacy of the sea against Holland, and then Nelson broke the sea power of France at Aboukir and Trafalgar.

While Manila and Santiago were not such tremendous conflicts, they destroyed Spain's four hundred years of dominion in America and the islands of Asia.

Admiral Togo's victory is one of the greatest in naval annals, and places him in the front rank of the world's sea-fighters. He has shown a mastery of science of sea-fighting under modern conditions that entitles him to the highest rank among naval strategists.

Saturn has a new little satellite, Professor Pickering says. Both are doing well.

The British have made Embassador Choate a "bencher," but, thank heaven, they haven't succeeded in making him a Britisher.

Has it never occurred to that faction of the Republican party that is trying to sidetrack Governor Pardee that they may need him in their appeal to the people in 1906.

A contemporary says we must close our gates against the enormous inrush of foreigh immigrants. Easier said than done. If immigration is to be stopped our traditional policy will have to be reversed, which will be no easy matter. It required many years of strenuous agitation to exclude the Chinese, who had no right to vote and were without influential kin-coming. The growing magnitude of the European exodus to these shores is nevertheless a question of the deepest moment. How to successfully deal with it is a perplexing problem which we trust will not prove baffling.

"The Three Most Beautiful Roses"
By Paul de Longpre.

At the urgent solicitation of the "Woman's Home Companion" Mr. Paul de Longpre, who is the greatest painter of flowers in the world, consented to make a painting of what he considered "The Three Most Beautiful Roses," and the painting is without doubt one of the masterpieces of this great artist. This magnificent picture is reproduced in all its original grandeur on the cover of the Woman's Home Companion for June. Although this cover is an accurate reproduction of a painting worth hundreds of dollars, yet the June number, which has this exquisite cover, may be obtained at any first-class news-stand or direct from the publishers for the trivial sum of only ten cents.

Mr. Paul de Longpre is justly styled the "King of Flower Painters." He not only paints roses, but every flowers that grows, and is the highest authority on flowers. His paintings are found in the most select homes. Some have sold for as much as seven thousand five hundred dollars ($7,500.00).

Artists, art critics and competent judges all agree that the covers of the Woman's Home Companion far excel those of any other magazine.

The Woman's Home Companion is a magazine which in beauty and excellence, art, stories, illustrations and fashions, etc., excels all home and family magazines. The Woman's Home Companion is published by The Crowell Publishing Company, New York City, also Chicago, Ill., at One Dollar a year, and is the favorite magazine in nearly half a million homes where it is read each and every issue by three million people.

F. S. Rosseter yesterday completed his labors as a teacher in the Redwood City school department. Mr. Rosseter took charge of the grammar school nine years ago and built it up to one of the finest in the State. He has had charge of the high school for six years, and it was pronounced last year by the University of California to be the model high school of the State. Mr. Rosseter will go from here to Fruitvale, where he will have charge of a fine new highschool which will be started there. He was elected out of a large number of applicants and will in a short time have a high grade school at Fruitvale.

The town meeting was the scene of quite a little debate Monday night, the question being, "Shall the water rate be raised to 10c per thousand gallons?" Geo. W. Lovie supported the affirmative while the board took different sides on the question. The new contract providing for the raise was carefully read and certain parts criticised. Mr. Walker presented figures as to the different elevations within the corporate limits and spoke about the force needed to get water to these places. Mr. Lovie explained that water would have to be taken from the top tank to reach these high spots. Mr. Walker insisted that the water company insert a clause in their contract agreeing to produce 300,000 gallons of water in one day, within one year, otherwise the contract would be abrogated. Mr. Lovie, for the company, agreed to this and the raise of 3c was agreed to. Fred Grimm appeared before the board and asked that sewer connections be made to his house. He was asked to wait until Mr. Gilbert could take certain levels, so that a permanent sewer could be put down. Superintendent Dickey asked the board to accompany him to the intersection of Mound and Main streets to discuss certain changes. The street committee was thereupon instructed to meet Mr. Dickey as requested and the board then adjourned.

Eastin Arrives with His Brief.

Attorney Eastin has filed his brief in the election contest case of Harry D. Pierce against Julius Eikerenkotter. The case was heard before Judge Smith of Santa Cruz some months ago and after taking testimony he directed the attorneys to submit their arguments on briefs. Mr. Ross for Eikerenkotter presented his brief a few days after and as nothing was heard of Eastin's brief it was thought he had concluded to let the case die a natural death. However, he has loomed up with a seventy-page document in which he takes a fling at all the county officers. In reading it one would imagine there was not an honest office-holder in the county.

Christian Beck's Will Filed.

The will of the late Christian Beck was filed for probate by Judge Fitzpatrick last Thursday. The instrument was executed on April 8th, 1903. The estate does not exceed $6,000 in value.

They Bid Good-bye to School Days to Assume Sterner Realities.

A large attendance was present, the families of the graduates occupying a large part of the center of the hall. The girl graduates in their pretty white dresses and the young men in conventional black were ranged about the stage making a neat appearance.

Professor Rosseter started the exercises at 8:15 with a few well chosen remarks as to the high school and the class of 1905. The address of the evening was delivered by W. J. Meredith, principal of Hoitt's School, which was filled with much sound advice to the the graduates. The diplomas were presented by Hon. Geo. C. Ross, president of the board of trustees and the program was brought to its close by the singing of the class song.

SAMPSON BROS. VS. HUGHES.

The Supreme Court Reverses the Decision of the Lower Court.

The Supreme Court has handed down a decision in the civil suit of Sampson Brothers against William Hughes, reversing the decision of the lower court and granting the plaintiffs a new trial. That tribunal found that the lower court erred in its instruction to the jury; that the court erred in admitting certain testimony of the defendant; and that an error was made in not permitting evidence to be introduced by plaintiffs to rebut the testimony given by young Wyman, the principal witness for the defendant. The Supreme Court held that the setting out of a fire negligently was sufficient action for damages while the defense held that to secure damages it was necessary to show that a fire had been started negligently and watched negligently. The plaintiffs held that any of the two causes would be sufficient for damages and in this contention they were upheld by the higher court.

Sampson Brothers' mill in the mountains was destroyed by fire some three years ago through, so they alleged, the carelessness of William Hughes, on whose place nearby a fire was started. A suit for damages for $10,000 was brought and a large amount of testimony was produced on both sides. A verdict was rendered in favor of the defendant and an appeal was at once taken to the Supreme Court. Geo. C. Ross appeared as attorney for Sampson Brothers and Judge Fitzpatrick and Henry Walker represented William Hughes. The celebrated case will be retried.

MICHAEL LYNCH IS MOURNED

Sudden Demise of the Famous Menlo Nurseryman.

An Honored Citizen Whose Ability Received Recognition on Two Continents.

A well known and respected citizen of Menlo Park passed out of the life of that community in the death of Michael Lynch, which occurred last Saturday evening at his home. Though not enjoying the best of health for some months past, he was jubilant and in the best of spirits on that day. A few minutes before his death he had been playing with his two young daughters that had arrived home from the Ursuline college at Sant Rosa the evening before. He had gone into the greenhouse to attend to some work that needed his attention and on coming out was seen to sink to the ground. He called for his son Joseph and was taken to his residence but died shortly after arriving there.

Mr. Lynch's death was a severe shock to his family and friends. No man in that community was more highly esteemed and respected than he.

Deceased had an eventful and varied career. He first saw the light in the historic County of Meath, 58 years ago. As a mere lad he struck out to make his own way in the world, having no assistance but a strong will and determination to accomplish the task, and this he did with superior energy and hard work, gaining more than ordinary success. He went to London and entered the Royal Botanical Gardens, there to study botany. For four years he pursued his studies diligently, mastering all the intricacies of the profession and also becoming a landscape gardener of skill. From there he went to the Botanical Gardens of Liverpool, where he spent some time gaining that useful information that in after life made him one of the best known nurserymen in the State. Mr. Lynch also spent a few years at the celebrated Kew Gardens of London.

At this stage of his career, when he had just passed his 21st birthday, he received his first distinction which encouraged him to higher achievements. The first chrysanthemum show ever exhibited in London took place in St. George's Hall. Young Lynch, fired with enthusiasm and a determination to make his mark, made a wonderful display of chrysanthemums, carrying off all the prizes, to the great surprise and amazement of the many exhibitors. The total amount of the prizes was 52 guineas, and with this munificent sum the young gardener set sail for America, equipped with a good knowledge of his business, to make his mark in the land of the free.

For nearly four years he was employed in the large gardens in New York, Jersey City, Philadelphia and Syracuse. While in New York, in 1875, he was married and on his wedding day started for California. That year saw him in charge of the beautiful gardens of Major Rathbone at Menlo Park. The Major was in the heyday of his success at that time and his handsomely kept grounds were the admiration of all. He formed a strong attachment for Mr. Lynch that grew stronger with years and ripened into warm friendship.

In 1880 James Flood, the bonanza king, had laid out his magnificent grounds and needed an expert landscape gardener to take charge. He selected Mr. Lynch for the work and while doing this is where the latter became known to fame as a skilful gardener. Mr. Lynch did his best work there. The planting of rare shrubs and plants bought in foreign countries, laying out of the winding walks in beautiful symmetry, displayed his cleverness and knowledge. The grounds as originally laid out by him will always remain a monument to his memory.

In 1886 Mr. Lynch took charge of the Sherwood Hall Nurseries, owned by Timothy Hopkins. He with his usual energy raised the concern from small beginnings to a business of large proportions, so that when he retired the nursery was furnishing San Francisco with one-third of its floral supply.

About fourteen years ago Mr. Lynch began business on his own account and threw his whole soul into the project. Beginning in a small way he gradually developed until he had one of the largest nurseries and the best paying business in the State. The daily shipment of flowers from the Menlo Park Nurseries is very large. Flowers are sent as far as Denver, Portland and Salt Lake City, and some of the largest stores in San Francisco are furnished from these nurseries. Mr. Lynch took great interest in his nurseries, delighting to show to his friends his hundreds of varieties of choice blooms and floral treasures.

During his lifetime Mr. Lynch drew about him many warm friends who loved him for his goodness of heart, finding in him one who was always ready with a helping hand to assist in some worthy beneficence. Through his long life he made many friends through his uniform amiability, his consistent uprightness in business dealings and his unstinted generosity. His demise will be regretted by every one who had the privilege of his acquaintance.

The funeral took place Tuesday morning, May 30, 1905, from his late residence and was escorted to the Church of the Nativity by the Menlo Park Horticulrural Society of fifty members. The little edifice was crowded to the doors. A solemn high mass was celebrated by Father Bailey as celebrant, Father McKinnon and Father Brockhage deacon and sub-deacon. Miss Annie Roney and a choir from San Francisco sung the mass. Besides those taking part in the services the following priests were inside the sanctuary: Fathers Sullivan, Doran, Lyons, Powers, Harvey of St. Patrick's seminary, O'Riordan of Berkeley, Cullen of Mountain View; Vuibert, president of St. Patrick's seminary; Cantwell, secretary to Archbishop Riordan; Smith, of San Francisco.

The funeral cortege was one of the largest ever seen in Menlo Park. Over one hundred carriages followed the remains to their last resting place in Holy Cross cemetery. The floral pieces were costly and many, showing the high esteem in which the deceased was held.

The following old-time friends acted as pallbearers: Sydney Clack, Daniel Regan, James R. Doyle, David Tuttle, Thomas McIntyre, Matthew Crowe.

A wife and nine children—four sons and five daughters—remain to mourn a loving husband and a devoted father.

MEETS A TRAGIC DEATH.

Mrs. Annie E. Owen Killed by a Picnic Train Memorial Day.

A very sad accident occurred at Cypress Lawn Cemetery, on Memorial Day, whereby Mrs. Annie E. Owen was killed. Mrs. Owens who had long been a teacher in the San Francisco school department went to Cypress Lawn to decorate the graves of some of her dear ones. She had performed this act and was returning to the electric cars. Just as she got onto the track in front of the gate she heard a picnic train bearing down upon her, the whistle blowed and so bewildered her that she rushed directly in front of the train and was instantly killed. The train did not mangle her body but the bones were badly broken.

The absence of Mrs. Owens was not known until Wednesday when her sister, Mrs. Searles who teaches in the same school as her sister saw that she did not appear. Then an article in the Chronicle attracted Mrs. McNally, another sister, who saw that the monogram on the watch was the same as her sister's. Mrs. McNally and Mrs. Searles came to Redwood immediately and identified the remains as those of their sister.

Mr. Crowe prepared the body for shipment and it was taken to San Francisco and the interment will take place at Cypress Lawn. The unfortunate lady was a native of New York, aged 53 years. She was a widow and leaves one married daughter, residing at Penn Grove, Sonoma county.

Automatic Poultry Fountain.

Dr. May, optician from Palo Alto, has recently received a sample of an automatic poultry fountain patented by his son which is unique in all the devices yet invented for the purpose of watering poultry. After the tank is filled you do not have to give it any more attention as it feeds itself until all the water is exhausted, stopping when the flow reaches a certain point. Another feature of the fountain is that it can be laid on side or tossed upside down without spilling a drop of water from the tank. An advertisement will soon appear describing the article.

Applied for Letters.

Truman E. Jewell has applied in the Superior Court for letters of administration upon the estate of his brother, the late Henry M. Jewell who died on the 19th instant. The estate consists of twelve lots in block fourteen, Redwood City, valued at $3,000, money in bank $1,000, and stock, bonds and promissory notes $5,000. The entire estate does not exceed $10,000 in value. The heir-at-law are the widow Mary J. Jewell, a brother Truman E. Jewell, a nephew Jewell D. Sornberg, and four half sisters residing in Pennsylvania.

A New Tire-setter.

William Bement has added a Schau cold-set tire setter to his already complete blacksmith shop on Main street. This is a late and most useful machine. It will set your tire while you wait—in a few minutes—and there is no danger of damage to the wheel. An exhibition of its work is worth the while of anyone to see.

CENTRAL COAST COUNTIES

Representatives Hold Meeting at Mountain View.

Straight Talk from a Redwwod City Delegate, Who Urges Strenuous Co-operation.

To the citizens, taxpayers and property owners of Redwood City:—Last Thursday, the 25th inst, Mr. Behrens, Mr. Thorpe and myself went to Mountain View to attend a meeting of the Central California Coast Counties Improvement Association, which has for its object the promotion and development of the central coast counties. Upon our arrival there we were met by a committee and escorted to the hall, where the meeting was just being opened and where we spent two very profitable and interesting hours listening to the accounts of the promotion work done in different sections of these counties, and as it was my first attendance at one of these meetings I was very much interested with the systematic manner in which these people work. During the morning the manager of the Pacific Press Publishing Company, the largest plant of its kind west of Chicago, appeared and invited us to inspect the plant at any time that suited our convenience. His very kind offer was accepted and 2 o'clock saw us on our way out there. To say that the majority of the representatives were surprised would be to put it mildly. For myself, I hever saw anything like it in my life before. All the latest machines for printing, publishing, setting type, sewing, photographing and binding are here employed. Big rolls of paper, similar in style to those used in grocery stores, but fifty times as large, are attatched to machines at one end, and after traveling up and down, in and out over various rollers, come out at the other end as books at the rate of 5,000 copies an hour. And to show you the magnitude of the place, their materials are purchased in carload lots and switched right into the grounds and they are even now printing a half million copies of their paper for the World's fair at Oregon. The management showed us every courtesy, delegating the foreman of each department to explain everything to us in detail, to the enjoyment of every one present. The ground floor of the building is very systematically arranged, while the up-stairs portions are used as editorial rooms, reading and writing rooms for the employes, and a large chapel capable of seating 200 or 300 people, where the employes meet for divine service and hold little social gatherings as well during the week. They also boast of an orchestra, which plays very nicely; and taking them altogether they were the happiest and most contented lot of people that I have ever had the good fortune to meet.

After seeing all we could there we returned to the hall, where business was resumed and where, at the election of officers, San Mateo county received her share of the honors. After Walter A. Clark of Mountain View had been elected president, and various other gentlemen from different sections had been elected as vice-presidents at large, nominations for secretary were in order, which resulted in the incumbent, Mr. Jefferson of San Benito county, being nominated for re-election by Mr. Blake of Gilroy; Mr. Foster of Santa Clara was nominated by Judge Herrington of San Jose, and Mr. Thorpe of Redwood City was put in nomination by Mr. L. P. Behrens. The election was very exciting, the first ballot resulting in no election. The second was a tie between Mr. Thorpe and Mr. Foster) Mr. Jefferson having in the meantime retired from the contest), and the third ballot resulted in Mr. Thorpe getting the office by just one vote. Mr. Behrens was re-elected treasurer and I was appointed on the board of control, which will put us in the position to do this section of the country a great deal of good if the people of the community will only back us up as they should.

Now, after seeing what Mountain View has done and noting the wonderful progress they have made in the past two years, I not unnaturally asked myself the reason for all this and on inquiry I found that it was due to the work of the Improvement club, by offering inducements to manufacturing concerns to locate here, and the way they did it was as follows: They presented the Pacific Press Publishing Co. with eight acres of land, which was purchased by subscriptions raised by citizens who had the welfare of Mountain View at heart, and this is the result—the Pacific Press Publishing Co., employing one hundred men and women, was brought from Oakland and located in Mountain View. They have been there about one year and have proved a great advantage to the town. In fact, property values have increased from 25 to 100 per cent.

I have found that there is a desire on the part of manufacturing concerns to move away from the large cities and establish themselves within a reasonable distance from San Francisco, on this side of the bay; and the many reasons for this are manifest. First, they are away from the center of the labor troubles; second, it requires less capital invested in ground space; and lastly, their employers can obtain small homes near the factory for very little money. Mountain View has practically doubled in population in the past two years and expects by following its present policy to again double in population and more than double its real estate values.

Now, citizens of Redwood City, what do you think of all this? Are you not ashamed of yourselves that you let Mountain View, with not one half the facilities you possess, get ahead of us like this? "Oh," I hear some one saying, "he is in the real estate business; it is to his interest to talk like that." I will admit that that is true; but if it is to my interest, is it not true that it would be to the interest of every one in Redwood? Would not the butcher, the grocer, the baker, and every one else in Redwood benefit by it? Would not the men who have held property here in Redwood for the past twenty or thirty years when it has been a drug on the market be benefited by it? Most assuredly they would, and every one else. Let us get out of the way of knocking. If the other fellow makes a dollar or so why all right, let him; your turn will come next. Let us pull together for the benefit of the community at large, let us put our shoulder to the wheel and boost with all our might, and where we all pull together the work is not one hundredth part as hard as if it were left to two or three to do it all.

Regarding the citizens of Mountain View, I have nothing but good words for them all. Any information asked for was cheerfully given and they even went further than that by offering to come to Redwood and meet the board of trade or the improvement club and personally give them the benefit of their experiences, because they realize that their interests are identical with ours and that a personal visit will generally do more good than any amount of letter writing could do. Regarding the close of the session I have nothing to say, as I unfortunately had to leave before it was over, but you will probably hear something about that later on.

In conclusion, I would earnestly ask the people of this community to put aside their personal prejudices and meet with the Improvement club as often as possible, irrespective of the fact that Mr. Jones or Brown, whom we do not like, happens to be on one of the committees; but laying that aside like a man, put your shoulder to the wheel and do the very best you can to place Redwood City where she belongs, for remember it is only by united action we can hope to accomplish anything.

Trusting that you will pardon this long letter and that it may be the means of helping to arouse some enthusiasm in the work of the Improvement club, and thanking the editor for his kindness in granting me so much space, I remain

Yours very truly,
C. G. LANDSCHEIT.

IMPROVEMENT CLUB.

A New Organization Launched to Work for Greater Redwood.

The Improvement club held a very enthusiastic meeting Wednesday evening in the town hall. F. H. Thorpe acted as temporary chairman and C. G. Landscheit as temporary secretary. The committee on by-laws, consisting of A. D. Walsh, H. Mourot and J. D. Smith, presented a rough draft drawn largely from the by-laws of the former club, and these were adopted as a temporary working plan. D. R. Stafford, Dr. W. M. Barret and Robert Brown, the committee on officers, reported the following: For president, H. W. Walker; vice-president, L. P. Thomas; treasurer, A. D. Walsh; executive committee, Geo. W. Lovie, L. P. Behrens, J. D. Smith, Robert Brown, Frank Marcus, Geo. C. Ross, E. F. Fitzpatrick, Henry Mourot. On motion of P. P. Chamberlain, seconded by G. Einstein, the report was adopted and the officers declared elected. Mr. Thorpe then turned the meeting over to Mr. Walker. The office of secretary having been left unfilled, C. G. Landscheit was elected thereto.

Geo. C. Ross addressed the meeting ta some length regarding the needs of our community. As nothing could be accomplished without funds Mr. Ross started the campaign fund. His suggestions were to the point and well received.

F. H. Thorpe followed and reviewed trade conditions, comparing ours with that of other towns close at hand, and stated authoritively that trade in Redwood City was more favorable than in the other places. He showed what we could offer that other towns could not, and urged that the citizens pull together.

A. D. Walsh enumerated our advantages and showed why Redwood City should grow.

H. W. Walker spoke of the condition of affairs in Redwood at present. He talked of the improvements going on, the new streets, curbs, water mains, etc., showing that as a town we had made more progress in the last three years than had ever before been made.

Mr. Behrens told what other towns along the line were doing and stated very clearly how Redwood City might progress in the same way.

Others present made suggestions of interest and importance which will be acted upon by the club. On the suggestion of Mr. Ross it was decided that all of the business men of town should use envelopes on which the advantages of the community would be advertised. The matter of advertising was discussed and it was the concensus of opinion that every cent obtainable should be put into advertising. Certain enterprises which had been looking towards Redwood were mentioned and the executive committee instructed to communicate with them. The meeting then adjourned to next Tuesday night, when it is hoped a very large gathering will be present to sign the roll and lend their financial aid to the undertaking.

TEACHING THE HORSE.

Will Learn Anything His Muscles Can Perform.

Expert horsemen believe that a horse can be taught to do anything that it is possible for an animal so formed and to be utterly fearless. Thus we know of horses rushing into battle with a fearlessness that is magnificent, although in the beginning of their lives they may have been foolishly timid, shying at everything unusual that happened to be seen in their travels.

In order to teach a horse fearlessness he must be accustomed to all sorts of sights and sounds. He must come to know that because something that he sees or hears is unusual it does not follow that it is harmful, for it is the unusual things that frighten him. The horse is an animal of one idea at a time and is not able to discriminate, so say the men who have made a study of the horse. While he will travel along quietly close by the roar of a train, he may tremble at the flutter of a piece of loose paper flying in the wind. It is not the frightfulness of the object that seems to alarm him, but the unfamiliarity of it. Horse trainers say that the mistakes made in "breaking" and training a colt is that it is too often done in the seclusion of some country road instead of amid the sights and sounds that the animal must necessarily become familiar with later.

As soon as the horse becomes familiar with anything and has learned to believe that it will not hurt him he will stand quietly or trot along peacefully, even though all sorts of noises and queer sights are about him. Thus the artillery horse will stand amid the roar of cannons, being used to the noise and not knowing that the sound predicts anguish and death. It is well to accustom a horse to unusual sounds as soon as possible after he is trained for riding or driving. It renders him safe and docile, even though he be a spirited animal. A certain trainer of horses said that an ideal school for horses would contain thrashing machines, pile drivers, steam drills, electric, steam and elevated cars, a band of martial music and a gang of quarrymen blasting rock. A horse that was drilled among such a bedlam as this would indeed prove immune to strange noises. The gentle family horse, petted by man and child, is not always trained to all this, yet he often makes a useful and faithful animal, loved by his owner and evidently making some return of affection.—Detroit Tribune.

Vivisection.

There is a knowledge which is heavenly, a knowledge which is human and a knowledge which is diabolic; there is a knowledge which is blessed and a knowledge which is accursed. The first is ennobling and elevating and lifts man toward God. The second is debasing, degrading, and drags men toward the pit. The knowledge gained by rooting amid the groans and agonies of living creatures, whom their Maker and ours put into our power, to teach us mercy, as he gives mercy to us, is such an accursed knowledge that only demons could seek for it, and it can turn to no human good. "Science" so gained is not for men, but for devils.—Bishop Hugh Miller Thompson in Success.

Battles In the Snow.

Many great battles have been fought in the snow, Eilau and Hohenlinden being familiar examples. Austerlitz was fought in intensely cold weather, and the Russian losses were increased by Napoleon turning the fire of his artillery on the frozen lakes over which the Russians sought to retreat. In our civil war Fort Donelson was captured in February, Fredericksburg was fought in December, Stone River Dec. 31, 1862, Jan. 2, 1863, and Thomas defeated and ruined Hood's army at Nashville the 15th and 16th of December, 1864.

Microscopic Detective.

Ehrenberg, prince of microscopists, some years ago was employed by the Prussian government to investigate a case of smuggling. A case had been opened, valuables extracted and the case repacked and shipped onward to its destination. The only clew to the criminals was that the unpacking must have been done at some of the customs houses through which the goods had passed. To all appearances the microscope had a hopeless task. Ehrenberg took some of the sand which had been used in repacking, placed it under the microscope, looked through the tube, and, behold, there on the sand lay a peculiar specimen of foraminifera. That animal was found only at one place in the world and told just where the crime had been committed.

When life's autumn comes, women, worn out by the burdens of motherhood, yet shrink from that second "change of life" which will banish these burdens forever. They fear a change in form, in feature, in personal attractiveness. Such fears are largely warranted by the effects which this change produces in many women. But no woman need let these fears fret her.

Those who have used Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription do not suffer from the change of life either in face, form or feelings as do other women. This fact is due to the intimate connection of the general health with the health of the organs peculiarly feminine. By preserving the health of these organs, and relieving the system from the debilitating drains, ulcers and inflammations which sap its health, "Favorite Prescription" paves the way for this natural change to come in Nature's way, without the loss of capacity to please others or personal inability to enjoy life.

"Your 'Favorite Prescription' brought me safely through that difficult period, called 'change of life,'" writes Mrs. Mary Ensminger, of 344 E. Ankeny St., Portland, Oregon. "This change made a very unpleasant disturbance through my entire system. I had hot and cold flashes, sick headaches, became excited, flustrated, nervous and irritable. My appetite was fitful and for days I was unable to eat a fair meal. My aunt recommended me to try Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and it made a great change for the better. Within two weeks the unpleasant feelings had disappeared. I have a husband and eight children so have the care of a large family but was able to attend to my household duties without any difficulty and passed the period without any more trouble. I can recommend your 'Favorite Prescription' as a grand medicine for women."

You may be willing that somebody else shall say that their baby is "just as good" as yours, but you don't want that baby substituted for yours. Let dealers say what they like about other medicines being "just as good" but don't let them substitute anything for "Favorite Prescription." It is absolutely unequaled.

THE HONEYMOON

Tisn't likely that husband will feed wife actually all their lives, however fond he is on the wedding trip. Likely enough, however, he will pay for the feeding as long as life shall last—he should. Strict vegetarians read no further. Everything in the meat line that's considered first-class found every week-day in this first-class meat store. Lots of husbands and wives to prove it. They don't believe they're overcharged, either.

GREAT FAMILY MEDICINE

Thedford's Black-Draught comes nearer regulating the entire system and keeping the body in health than any other medicine made. It is always ready in any emergency to treat ailments that are frequent in any family, such as indigestion, biliousness, colds, diarrhœa, and stomach aches.

Thedford's Black-Draught is the standard, never-failing remedy for stomach, bowel, liver and kidney troubles. It is a cure for the domestic ills which so frequently summon the doctor. It is as good for children as it is for grown persons. A dose of this medicine every day will soon cure the most obstinate case of dyspepsia or constipation, and when taken as directed brings quick relief.

DANVILLE, ILL., Dec. 23, 1902.

Thedford's Black-Draught has been our family doctor for five years and we want no other. When any of us feel badly we take a dose and are all right in twelve hours. We have spent lots of money for doctor bills, but we along just as well with Black-Draught. IRA H. BADER.

Ask your dealer for a package of Thedford's Black-Draught and if he does not keep it send 25c. to The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn. and a package will be mailed to you.
